Who is eligible to participate?

Businesses that can reduce electric load by 15% of their monthly average peak demand or a minimum of 100 kilowatts (kW). Customers can enroll directly with SDG&E® or through a third party.

What are the benefits of participation?

Participants in the BIP will receive a monthly bill credit of $3/kW or $7/kW per month for potential load reduction.

How does the program work?

Participating customers are notified within 30 minutes or 3 hours of an event. Customers must reduce load to their designated Firm Service Level to avoid an Excess Energy Usage Charge.

Are there penalties for not achieving the required load reductions?

There is a $1.88/kWh or $4.50/kWh penalty for excess energy usage. During a curtailment event, excess energy is any energy used above the customer's Firm Service Level.

Can customers participate in other Demand Response programs?

Participants may be eligible to participate in other Demand Response programs, but restrictions apply. Participants cannot receive incentives from more than one program for the same load reduction.
