A Future with Customer Level Markets

Mark Knight

December 8, 1:30pm
NCEP Annual Meeting

Session Overview

- The modern grid will allow for the exchange of more granular information on electricity use and supply across the distribution and transmission systems.
- What approaches are in place and on the horizon for leveraging customer resources to support grid needs?

Leveraging Customer Resources to Support Grid Needs

- Depends on relatively few parameters:
 - Where the customers are
 - What they can do
 - What the grid needs requirements are
 - How we leverage the resources
